Dear Friends,

Over the past two decades South Africa Partners has strived to identify creative, practical, and cost-effective solutions to address key health and education issues in low resourced communities in South Africa. It has been our great privilege to lead South Africa Partners into its 21st year of striving towards Mandela’s vision of “a better life for all.” We are honored to do so while emulating the values and vision of South Africa Partners’ founders, and of extraordinary leaders such as Arch. Desmond Tutu, Hon. Aiko Satschi, the late Ahmed Kathrada, and countless others who have been part of the long walk.

South Africa Partners’ secret to successfully promoting systemic change comes from working with a network of individuals and organizations committed to a common goal. Through these partnerships, our initiatives have had widespread, demonstrable impact, reaching millions of South Africans. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education as the foundation of a just democracy.

Thank you for joining us.

Ilana Hurwitz, Jonathan Joffe, Judy Bigby

Board President  Board President-Elect  Executive Director

LETTER FROM LEADERSHIP

South Africa Partners’ founders, and of extraordinary leaders such as Arch. Desmond Tutu, Hon. Aiko Satschi, the late Ahmed Kathrada, and countless others who have been part of the long walk.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education as the foundation of a just democracy.

Thank you for joining us.

Ilana Hurwitz, Jonathan Joffe, Judy Bigby

Board President  Board President-Elect  Executive Director
Dear Friends,

Over the past two decades South Africa Partners has strived to identify creative, practical, and cost-effective solutions to address key health and education issues in low resourced communities in South Africa. It has been our great privilege to lead South Africa Partners into its 21st year of striving towards Mandela’s vision of “a better life for all”. We are honored to do so while emulating the values and vision of South Africa Partners’ founders, and of extraordinary leaders such as Arch. Desmond Tutu, Hon. Albie Sachs, the late Ahmed Kathrada, and countless others who have been part of the long walk.

South Africa Partners’ secret to successfully promoting systemic change comes from working with a network of individuals and organizations committed to a common goal. Through these partnerships, our initiatives have had widespread, demonstrable impact, reaching millions of South Africans. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

Thank you for joining us.

Ilana Hurwitz, Jonathan Joffe, Judy Bigby

Board President, Board President-Elect, Executive Director

Andrew Arieff, PhD
Director, International Programs
University of Rochester

David Joffe, MD
South Africa Country Representative, iHarrington Family Foundation

Pendapete Andrews, LLB, LLM
Dean, School of Law University of Cape Town

Douglas Boyle, MD
Senior Vice President for Public Affairs, Global SIV

David Devorak, MD
Senior Vice President, Trinity Services, Eastern Cape

Malini Patkar, PhD
Director, HIV & TB Programs, Harvard Graduate School of Education

Diane P. Van Hook, PhD
Executive Director, Center for Community Health Education Research and Services, Inc.

Hana Humelitz, Esq.
Senior Law Professor, Boston University School of Law

Jonathan Joffe, SJD
CEO, South Africa Partners

Judith Labouvie, MPH
Senior Programs Advisor, Hargis, as an Affiliate for Johns Hopkins University

Pasi Mardia, MD
Chair, Children's Health Fund

Stephen Moyo
Director, South Sudan

Jason Tuit & Investment Management Company

Sandra Steel
Senior Director, Leadership Gifts, South Africa Partners

Nicholas Nyoka, LLB, LLM
Chief Officer, South Africa Partners

Milica Pajic, PhD
Professor of Practice and Management, Boston University

Jacqueline Poole
Vice President, Research and Evaluation

SOUTH AFRICA PARTNERS

South Africa Partners’ secret to successfully promoting systemic change comes from working with a network of individuals and organizations committed to a common goal. Through these partnerships, our initiatives have had widespread, demonstrable impact, reaching millions of South Africans. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.
Providing Care and Support for South Africans at risk for and living with HIV

- In the Integrated Access to Care and Treatment (I-Act) program was adopted as a national model by the South Africa National Department of Health. We provide technical assistance to the Department to implement this model through the national LinkCARE program. The program ensures that the public healthcare system supports people living with HIV, TB, and non-communicable diseases to remain in treatment over the long term. LinkCARE has trained over 700 Provincial Department of Health facility staff on the National Adherence Guidelines for Chronic Diseases and helped to implement monitoring systems to track progress.
- In September, a team of representatives from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) visited Zondewater Correctional Services where we implemented our STEPS model for strengthening prevention activities to stem the spread of HIV and TB. Results demonstrate that peer education interventions are effective in terms of TB prevention and antiretroviral therapy adherence.

Increasing the capacity of leaders and managers to drive health system transformation in South Africa

- The Alberta Sou’ls Executive Leadership Programme in Health (ASELPH) has provided executive-level training and support to 206 enrolled fellows and 86 health managers with post-graduate degrees in Public Health management and leadership; the remainder are still in the program (90 percent pass rate). ASELPH course content reflects the current health care challenges in South Africa. The course uses the Harvard case teaching method and also reflects the dominant global trends in applied public health education.
- At the September meeting of the Public Health Association of South Africa Conference, ASELPH leaders, in partnership with the National Department of Health, presented “Strengthening Health Systems through Servant Leadership & Quality Management Processes” in a session describing impact of their participation in ASELPH.

Supporting South Africa’s youngest children to reach their full educational potential

- We partnered with Pick’ n’ Pay and Boxer stores in a pilot program to transform supermarkets into places of learning and engagement for children under five. This low-cost strategy, in which conversation-prompting, child-friendly signage is placed throughout the supermarket, has turned a daily routine into a learning opportunity for almost 500 children in high-poverty areas.
- Five of the eight daycare centers in the Community Early Child Development (ECD) Network have advanced to meet the requirements for formal registration with the South African Department of Social Development, gaining consistent financial support for their work in educating the youngest community members. Over 450 children under 6 have benefitted from the Early Child Development (ECD) Network since 2014.
- The Community ECD Network entered into a new collaboration with the Department of Health in the Buffalo City Municipality to train daycare practitioners in monitoring children’s growth and screening for malnutrition.
- We initiated a practice-based coaching model to help daycare practitioners translate formal training into effective long-term practice in the classroom.
We work towards a South Africa in which every person has access to quality healthcare and education as the foundation of a just democracy. Through partnerships, we strengthen health and education systems in South Africa from the ground up. The bridge we’ve built between the United States and South Africa has enabled an invaluable transfer of human and financial resources towards this ideal. We believe “it takes a village” – that through collective action, communities build enabled an invaluable transfer of human and financial resources towards this ideal.

Over the last 20 years, South Africa Partners has facilitated more than $30 million to health and education programming in South Africa.

In June we honored the life and legacy of Ahmed Kathrada with an evening of storytelling. We heard from many people fortunate enough to know Ahmed who celebrated him as an activist, change maker, and dear friend. Mr. Kathrada is greatly missed by all of us at South Africa Partners.

Providing Care and Support for South Africans at risk for and living with HIV

• Our Integrated Access to Care and Treatment (I ACT) program was adopted as a national model by the South Africa National Department of Health. We provide technical assistance to the Department to implement this model through the national LinkCARE program. The program assures that the public health care system supports people living with HIV, TBL, and non-communicable diseases to remain in treatment over the long term. LinkCARE has trained over 795 Provincial Department of Health facility staff on the National Adherence Guidelines for Chronic Disease and helped to implement monitoring systems to track progress.

• In September, a team of representatives from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) visited Zondewater Correctional Services where we implemented our STEPS model for strengthening prevention activities to stem the spread of HIV and TBL. Results demonstrate that peer education interventions are effective in terms of TB prevention and antimicrobial therapy adherence.

Increasing the capacity of leaders and managers to drive health system transformation in South Africa

• The AlbertaSouls Executive Leadership Programme in Health (ASELPH) has provided executive-level training and support to 206 enrolled fellows and 82 health managers with post-graduate degrees in Public Health management and leadership; the remainder are still in the program (90 percent pass rate). ASELPH course content reflects the current health challenges in South Africa. The course uses the Harvard case teaching method and also reflects the dominant global trends in applied public health education.

• At the September meeting of the Public Health Association of South Africa Conference, ASELPH leaders, in partnership with the National Department of Health, presented “Strengthening Health Systems through Servant Leadership & Quality Management Processes” in a session describing impact of their participation in ASELPH.

Supporting South Africa’s youngest children to reach their full educational potential

• We partnered with Pick n’ Pay and Boxer stores in a pilot program to transform supermarkets into places of learning and engagement for children under five. This low-cost strategy, in which conversation-prompting, child-friendly signage is placed throughout the supermarket, has turned a daily routine into a learning opportunity for almost 500 children in high-poverty areas.

• Five of the eight daycare centers in the Community Early Child Development (ECD) Network have advanced to meet the requirements for formal registration with the South African Department of Social Development, gaining consistent financial support for their work in educating the youngest community members. Over 450 children under 6 have benefitted from the Early Child Development (ECD) Network since 2014.

• The Community ECD Network entered into a new collaboration with the Department of Health in the Buffalo City Municipality to train daycare practitioners in monitoring children’s growth and screening for malnutrition.

• We initiated a practice-based coaching model to help daycare practitioners translate formal training into effective long-term practice in the classroom.

2017 HIGHLIGHTS

• In July, JudyAnn Bigby, a former Executive Director, Mary Tiseo for her two decades of work in partnership with local communities, government, academic institutions and NGOs. We also welcomed JudyAnn Bigby as she transitioned from our Board of Directors to our new Executive Director. We are pleased to announce the event helped us raise over $142,000 to support our programs and future work.

2017 ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

On April 28th, South Africa Partners celebrated our 20th anniversary at the University of Massachusetts Campus Center overlooking the Boston Harbor. Our 20th anniversary celebration was made possible, in part, by gifts and donations from 300 of our closest friends and supporters. We are especially grateful to our co-founder and former Executive Director, Mary Tiseo for her two decades of work in partnership with local communities, government, academic institutions and NGOs.
We work towards a South Africa in which every person has access to quality healthcare and education as the foundation of a just democracy. Through partnerships, we strengthen health and education systems in South Africa from the ground up. The bridge we’ve built between the United States and South Africa has enabled an invaluable transfer of human and financial resources towards this ideal. We believe “it takes a village” – that through collective action, communities build enabled an invaluable transfer of human and financial resources towards this ideal. Ground up. The bridge we’ve built between the United States and South Africa has partnerships, we strengthen health and education systems in South Africa from the healthcare and education as the foundation of a just democracy. Through

We work towards a South Africa in which every person has access to quality education and programming in South Africa.

Over the last 20 years, South Africa Partners has facilitated more than $30 million to health and education programming in South Africa.

In June we honored the life and legacy of Ahmed Kathrada with an evening of storytelling. We heard from many people fortunate enough to know Ahmed who celebrated him as an activist, change maker, and dear friend. Mr. Kathrada is greatly missed by all of us at South Africa Partners.

Providing Care and Support for South Africans at risk for and living with HIV

• Our Integrated Access to Care and Treatment (I-ACT) program was adopted as a national model by the South Africa National Department of Health. We provide technical assistance to the Department to implement this model through the national LinkCARE program. The program ensures that the public health care system supports people living with HIV, TB, and non-communicable diseases to remain in treatment over the long term. LinkCARE has trained over 795 Provincial Department of Health facility staff on the National Adherence Guidelines for Chronic Diseases and helped to implement monitoring systems to track progress.

• In September, a team of representatives from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) visited Zondewater Correctional Services where we implemented our STEPS model for strengthening prevention activities to stem the spread of HIV and TB. Results demonstrate that peer education interventions are effective in terms of TB prevention and antiretroviral therapy adherence.

Increasing the capacity of leaders and managers to drive health system transformation in South Africa

• The Albertina Sisulu Executive Leadership Programme in Health (ASELPH) has provided executive-level training and support to 206 enrolled fellows and 86 health managers with post-graduate degrees in Public Health management and leadership; the remainder are still in the program (90 percent pass rate). ASELPH course content reflects the current health care challenges in South Africa. The course uses the Harvard case teaching method and also reflects the dominant global trends in applied public health education.

• At the September meeting of the Public Health Association of South Africa Conference, ASELPH leaders, in partnership with the National Department of Health, presented “Strengthening Health Systems through Servant Leadership & Quality Management Processes” in a session discussing impact of their participation in ASELPH.

Supporting South Africa’s youngest children to reach their full educational potential

• We partnered with Pick n’ Pay and Boxer stores in a pilot program to transform supermarkets into places of learning and engagement for children under five. This low-cost strategy, in which conversation-promoting, child-friendly signage is placed throughout the supermarket, has turned a daily routine into a learning opportunity for almost 500 children in high-poverty areas.

• Five of the eight daycare centers in the Community Early Child Development (ECD) Network have advanced to meet the requirements for formal registration with the South African Department of Social Development, gaining consistent financial support for this work in educating the youngest community members. Over 450 children under 6 have benefitted from the Early Child Development (ECD) Network since 2014.

• The Community ECD Network entered into a new collaboration with the Department of Health in the Buffalo City Municipality to train daycare practitioners in monitoring children’s growth and measuring for malnutrition.

• We initiated a practice-based coaching model to help daycare practitioners translate formal training into effective long-term practice in the classroom.

In June we honored the life and legacy of Ahmed Kathrada with an evening of storytelling. We heard from many people fortunate enough to know Ahmed who celebrated him as an activist, change maker, and dear friend. Mr. Kathrada is greatly missed by all of us at South Africa Partners.

Providing Care and Support for South Africans at risk for and living with HIV

• Our Integrated Access to Care and Treatment (I-ACT) program was adopted as a national model by the South Africa National Department of Health. We provide technical assistance to the Department to implement this model through the national LinkCARE program. The program ensures that the public health care system supports people living with HIV, TB, and non-communicable diseases to remain in treatment over the long term. LinkCARE has trained over 795 Provincial Department of Health facility staff on the National Adherence Guidelines for Chronic Diseases and helped to implement monitoring systems to track progress.

• In September, a team of representatives from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) visited Zondewater Correctional Services where we implemented our STEPS model for strengthening prevention activities to stem the spread of HIV and TB. Results demonstrate that peer education interventions are effective in terms of TB prevention and antiretroviral therapy adherence.

Increasing the capacity of leaders and managers to drive health system transformation in South Africa

• The Albertina Sisulu Executive Leadership Programme in Health (ASELPH) has provided executive-level training and support to 206 enrolled fellows and 86 health managers with post-graduate degrees in Public Health management and leadership; the remainder are still in the program (90 percent pass rate). ASELPH course content reflects the current health care challenges in South Africa. The course uses the Harvard case teaching method and also reflects the dominant global trends in applied public health education.

• At the September meeting of the Public Health Association of South Africa Conference, ASELPH leaders, in partnership with the National Department of Health, presented “Strengthening Health Systems through Servant Leadership & Quality Management Processes” in a session discussing impact of their participation in ASELPH.

Supporting South Africa’s youngest children to reach their full educational potential

• We partnered with Pick n’ Pay and Boxer stores in a pilot program to transform supermarkets into places of learning and engagement for children under five. This low-cost strategy, in which conversation-promoting, child-friendly signage is placed throughout the supermarket, has turned a daily routine into a learning opportunity for almost 500 children in high-poverty areas.

• Five of the eight daycare centers in the Community Early Child Development (ECD) Network have advanced to meet the requirements for formal registration with the South African Department of Social Development, gaining consistent financial support for this work in educating the youngest community members. Over 450 children under 6 have benefitted from the Early Child Development (ECD) Network since 2014.

• The Community ECD Network entered into a new collaboration with the Department of Health in the Buffalo City Municipality to train daycare practitioners in monitoring children’s growth and measuring for malnutrition.

• We initiated a practice-based coaching model to help daycare practitioners translate formal training into effective long-term practice in the classroom.

In June we honored the life and legacy of Ahmed Kathrada with an evening of storytelling. We heard from many people fortunate enough to know Ahmed who celebrated him as an activist, change maker, and dear friend. Mr. Kathrada is greatly missed by all of us at South Africa Partners.

Providing Care and Support for South Africans at risk for and living with HIV

• Our Integrated Access to Care and Treatment (I-ACT) program was adopted as a national model by the South Africa National Department of Health. We provide technical assistance to the Department to implement this model through the national LinkCARE program. The program ensures that the public health care system supports people living with HIV, TB, and non-communicable diseases to remain in treatment over the long term. LinkCARE has trained over 795 Provincial Department of Health facility staff on the National Adherence Guidelines for Chronic Diseases and helped to implement monitoring systems to track progress.

• In September, a team of representatives from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) visited Zondewater Correctional Services where we implemented our STEPS model for strengthening prevention activities to stem the spread of HIV and TB. Results demonstrate that peer education interventions are effective in terms of TB prevention and antiretroviral therapy adherence.

Increasing the capacity of leaders and managers to drive health system transformation in South Africa

• The Albertina Sisulu Executive Leadership Programme in Health (ASELPH) has provided executive-level training and support to 206 enrolled fellows and 86 health managers with post-graduate degrees in Public Health management and leadership; the remainder are still in the program (90 percent pass rate). ASELPH course content reflects the current health care challenges in South Africa. The course uses the Harvard case teaching method and also reflects the dominant global trends in applied public health education.

• At the September meeting of the Public Health Association of South Africa Conference, ASELPH leaders, in partnership with the National Department of Health, presented “Strengthening Health Systems through Servant Leadership & Quality Management Processes” in a session discussing impact of their participation in ASELPH.

Supporting South Africa’s youngest children to reach their full educational potential

• We partnered with Pick n’ Pay and Boxer stores in a pilot program to transform supermarkets into places of learning and engagement for children under five. This low-cost strategy, in which conversation-promoting, child-friendly signage is placed throughout the supermarket, has turned a daily routine into a learning opportunity for almost 500 children in high-poverty areas.

• Five of the eight daycare centers in the Community Early Child Development (ECD) Network have advanced to meet the requirements for formal registration with the South African Department of Social Development, gaining consistent financial support for this work in educating the youngest community members. Over 450 children under 6 have benefitted from the Early Child Development (ECD) Network since 2014.

• The Community ECD Network entered into a new collaboration with the Department of Health in the Buffalo City Municipality to train daycare practitioners in monitoring children’s growth and measuring for malnutrition.

• We initiated a practice-based coaching model to help daycare practitioners translate formal training into effective long-term practice in the classroom.
Dear Friends,

Over the past two decades South Africa Partners has strived to identify creative, practical, and cost-effective solutions to address key health and education issues in low resourced communities in South Africa. It has been our great privilege to lead South Africa Partners into its 21st year of striving towards Mandela’s vision of “a better life for all”. We are honored to do so while emulating the values and vision of South Africa Partners’ founders, and of extraordinary leaders such as Arch. Desmond Tutu, Hon. Albie Sachs, the late Ahmed Kathrada, and countless others who have been part of the long walk.

South Africa Partners’ secret to successfully promoting systemic change comes from working with a network of individuals and organizations committed to a common goal. Through these partnerships, our initiatives have had widespread, demonstrable impact, reaching millions of South Africans. Whether it’s supporting a young child in reaching her full educational potential, or empowering an adult living with HIV/AIDS to make positive lifestyle changes, we owe much to our teams in South Africa and Boston for their dedication to transforming lives. We look forward to building on this success by collaborating in new, innovative ways to achieve results – across sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

As supporters of our work, you are part of a diverse group of international friends who share our commitment to South Africa’s future. You recognize our unique ability to achieve large-scale, long-term impact, and systemic change. You have provided guidance and support to advance our mission and shape our responses to challenges and opportunities. You share the philosophy that we embed in everything we do – “Ilima”, the Xhosa equivalent of “it takes a village” – and you recognize that it’s through this collective action that communities build people and social capital for long-lasting impact.

We are deeply grateful to you for giving so generously of your time and resources. With your support, South Africa Partners will continue to work towards a future in which every South African has universal access to quality healthcare and education.

Thank you for joining us.

Judy Bigby, Executive Director

---

LETTER FROM LEADERSHIP

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Andrew Arriola, PhD
President, Business School
University of Rochester

David Allen, MD
President, MPH
South Africa Quality Reasearch, Ltd. and Avril Foundation

Pendape Charunda, LLB, LLM
Chair, Faculty of Law University of Cape Town

Douglas Brody, MD
Global Associate Director
Public Affairs, Gilead Sciences

David DeLorme
Advisor

Marianne Dutton, PhD
President, Year 3 & International Programs,
Innovate Graduate School of Education

Elaine P. Fargnoli, PhD
Chair, Global Philanthropy

Ilana Hurwitz, Esq.
Chair, Law, Policy, Politics, School of Law

Jonathan Joffe, SJD
CEO & Chief Executive Officer

Stephen Moody
Senior, Global Sustainability

Sloane J. & Stuart S. Stein
Managing Director

Rachel Knight, MD
President and CEO

Millicent Nkateko, LLB, LLM
Executive Director, Center for Community Health

Bonisile Ntelemeza
Secretary

Joellen Lambiotte, MMPM
CEO, QTec Analytics

Andrew Ainslie, PhD
President, Harvard Graduate School of Education

Penelope Andrews, LLB, LLM
President and CEO, Colette Phillips Communications

Jacobi Gooden, MD
Chair

Karen Stimson, SJD, LMTF
Assistant, Department of Public Services,
Public Schools of Newton

Elinor Robin, MPH
Director, International Advancement, Phillips Academy

Nana Camara, Ashford
Senior Director, Leadership Gifts

Marita Rivero
Consultant

Margaret Bunches, Esq.
President, Triple Board Rights & Governance

Racial Knights, MD
President, Founder of Get Konnected

Nkateko Nkateko
CEO, Vodacom Foundation

Linda Kaplan, MD
President, Jamaica Medical College

Susan Cook Merrill, PhD, OTR/L, FAOTA
President, Wheelock College

Karen Stimson
President, Museum of African American History

Gail Pettiford Willett
Executive Consultant, Wilson Taylor Associates

David Allen
Executive Director, Center for Community Health

Margaret Burnham, Esq.
Professor and Director, Justice Project, Northeastern University of Law

Stephen Moody
Manager, Student Services

Lynn Meltzer, PhD
Professor of Law, New York University

Marti Wilson-Taylor
Associate Professor, Johns Hopkins University

Jeanette Kruger, MSW
Program Director, Children's Health Fund, and Minister

Jacqueline McDivitt
Senior Director, Leadership Gifts

Linda Kaplan, M.D.
President, New York University College of Dentistry

Karen Stimson
President, Museum of African American History

Gail Pettiford Willett
Executive Consultant, Wilson Taylor Associates

Jeanette Kruger, MSW
Program Director, Children's Health Fund, and Minister

Jacqueline McDivitt
Senior Director, Leadership Gifts

Linda Kaplan, M.D.
President, New York University College of Dentistry

Karen Stimson
President, Museum of African American History

Gail Pettiford Willett
Executive Consultant, Wilson Taylor Associates

Jeanette Kruger, MSW
Program Director, Children's Health Fund, and Minister

Jacqueline McDivitt
Senior Director, Leadership Gifts

Linda Kaplan, M.D.
President, New York University College of Dentistry

Karen Stimson
President, Museum of African American History

Gail Pettiford Willett
Executive Consultant, Wilson Taylor Associates